

2082 (Non-Binary) - They Might Be Giants

(lyrics tweaked slightly to be a little more gender-neutral)

Verse 1

Draw the curtain look you're only sleeping
Or is this only what the other you is dreaming either way, hard to take Ashen features unmistakable your own
Familiar posture recast in skin-and-bone Person from today, here is you in Twenty Eighty-Two.

Verse 2

Remove your helmet, first equalize the pressure
No but first, take readings to be sure, the atmosphere is safe, yes, it's safe
As the ancient one cranes their neck to look
You see their hand's been replaced with a hook
But it's clear you're very much alive it's Twenty-One Oh-Five.

Bridge

No, it's Twenty-Two Forty
No, it's Thirty-Four Fifteen
How can you still be living?
What does this mean?

Verse 3

You must honor and respect the older fellow Even as you suffocate them with their pillow though you're strong, they were wise
There is much you can learn from this sage
And though you'll even travel back to your own age
You will meet again, you two
in Twenty Eighty Two.
What was the look they gave intended to convey?
Was there something else they were trying to say?
It will all be revealed to you
in Twenty Eighty Two!